KENTUCKY STATE NEWS.

Legislative Proceedings.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 7.—SENATE.—W. C. Clegg, of Lawrence County, introduced a bill to prohibit miners who have been employed in the coal mines of Campbell, Kentucky, for a term of three years, from ever again working in mines or pits in the state. The bill was introduced without effect.

NOTE.—This bill was introduced Tuesday, regularizing the sale of cocomuneras and similar substances made in imitation of native, non-potable water, a penalty of $100 a barrel being imposed on the sale of such water, regulating the weighing and mining of coal, providing for the safety of employees, prohibiting boys and females under 12 years of age from working in mines or pits, and prohibiting the sale of deadly poisons by dealers and requiring them to keep a full register of all sales each day.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 8.—SENATE.—The Senate discussed at great length Wednesday evening the bill to compel all physicians to stand at examination before entering practice. After eight hours' debate, it was voted to postpone the bill until the next session, to committee on bills to prevent railroads from taking an appeal to the United States courts. No committee was chosen before adjournment.

NOTE.—An order of the day came up Wednesday morning in the Senate before the committees could be called, thus preventing the constitutional committee from reporting its bill. The bill, however, was introduced Tuesday, the charter will therefore remain in force until a new one is passed by the Senate.

HOUSE.—The second class charter was reported by Senator White, and the bill was referred to the committee on municipalities. The same committee reported Mr. White's bill to complete electric wires to be put underground, with the opinion that it ought not to pass. After a long debate, the bill was rejected, and the bill to its second reading, though there is little probability of its passing.

TERMS.—Sale to be made on a credit of six months. Purchaser will be required to give bond for the payment of the purchase money, being secured by a lien upon the property and having the force and effect of a replivio bond.

J. M. Short, Esq., of Louisville, has taken the lead in this bill to prevent railroads from taking an appeal to the United States courts.

ART. 6. Said Grand Lodge and subordinate lodges shall have power and authority to acquire and hold real estate for promotion of its objects, and in their discretion employ their funds for the erection of suitable halls at places of meeting, at Louisa, Ky., or elsewhere; and shall have the power to sell and convey same or any part thereof, the proceeds thereof to be held in trust for the promotion of the objects of the lodge owning same.

ART. 7. Said Grand Lodge shall have the power to elect annually all officers necessary for carrying out the objects of and conducting the business of said lodge; and shall have the power to designate, and define the duties, and fix the compensation of all officers of the said Grand Lodge, and designate the number and style and duties of all officers of subordinate lodges, and provide the mode and manner of election of said officers, and rules for government of all subordinate lodges.

ART. 8. Said Grand Lodge shall have the power to determine what dues shall be collected from all subordinate lodges for the support of the Grand Lodge, and carrying out the purpose of its constitution; it may determine the dues payable to each subordinate lodge, so that it be between a maximum and minimum vote rate fixed by it.

The Grand Lodge shall exercise general supervision and control over all subordinate lodges, and shall hear and determine all questions and disputes arising in such lodges that may not be finally determinable by the rules and regulations governing the subordinate lodges, and providing what matters and determinations and decisions of subordinate lodges, and of the officers of the Grand and subordinate lodges shall be appealable, and the mode and manner of taking, prosecuting, and determining the appeals, the orders thereon and enforced thereof.

ART. 9. The private property of the incorporators and members of said Grand Lodge and of its subordinate lodges shall be exempt from the debts of said lodges.

ART. 10. The chief place of business of said Grand Lodge shall be Louisville, Kentucky.

ART. 11. Said Grand Lodge shall not incur an indebtedness or liability exceeding $25,000 nor shall any of its subordinate lodges incur an indebtedness or liability exceeding $5,000.

ART. 12. This corporation shall commence upon acknowledgment of these articles, and continue twenty-five years.

ART. 13. The name and place of residence of its stockholders and the number of shares of stock subscribed by each are as follows:

J. F. Hatten, Buchanan, Ky., one share, $1. L. C. Hazlett, Mavitt, Ky., one share, $1. Robt. Dixon, Louisville, Ky., one share, $1. M. F. Swetnam, Wilber, Ky., one share, $1.

In testimony whereof the above named corporators hereunto sign their names.

This 16th day of Jan., 1894.

Joseph V. Dory, of Warsaw, Ill., was troubled with rheumatism and tried a number of different remedies, but says none of them seemed to do him any good; but finally he got hold of one that seemed to like him. He states pleased with it, and felt sure that others similarly afflicted would like to know what the remedy was that cured him. He states for the benefit of the public that it is
